

British Airways

Winner at the UK Usability Professionals' Association (UKUPA) awards presentation.

On Thursday, November 3rd 2005, the UK Usability Professionals' Association held its first awards presentation. The nominees were selected by a panel of 12 usability experts and the winners were chosen by a vote of over 300 usability experts in the United Kingdom.

The British Airways 'Self-Service Check-in Kiosk' won the award for Best Specialised / Public Technology.

The British Airways check-in kiosks are used at airports in the United Kingdom and in Europe. Passengers save time by checking in at the kiosk and bypassing lines in front of traditional check-in counters. Kiosks are used by over 500,000 people per month to check-in to their flights.

Contacts

Rob Chan

Practice Leader – Self-service solutions

IBM Global Business Services

robchan@ca.ibm.com

905-316-4943

